THE ARTIST

She turns urban pop hooks into a live show built for the college, festival, and Pride stage.

Makhyli is a Los Angeles pop artist with the hooks, attitude, and stage presence to own a crowd. In just over a year since her independent debut, her music has pulled in more than 200,000 streams and engagements, and she's carried that same energy onto the stage, most recently at San Diego Pride.

Her singles deliver confident, rhythm-forward pop in the lane of Doja Cat and Doechii, paired with honest storytelling. A former member of Boys World now charting her own path, she is also a working actress and backs her music with real advocacy.
